

PETER JAMES 'TWO THUMBS' TRAPANI

After several gibbering incoherent people began spreading rumours about Peter having a need to allegedly break into Petroleum Fuelled Vehicles (PFVs), the following two allegedly suspicious thumbs were documented in this dossier, especially for 'Keith' in one part of London, who began writing to other people about Peter, and how Peter actually allegedly had to time to harass the family of a video wedding recordist enthusiast and a video tape distributor. 'Two Thumbs' is now 'on the record' and if these thumb prints turn up at any point, in any PFVs in the future, or attached to evidence relating to any international plots to overthrow whatever the organisation in power is at that point history, these thumb-prints can now be called upon from a growing database of records relating to 'Two Thumbs' Pete and any of his accomplices, each of which has also been spotted with thumbs, in various places around Great Britain at least. Several prints of one his rear cheeks was also recorded about the same time, though as yet these have not been found in any PFVs either.

These prints are for reference and study purposes only. Please note the real thumbs are not this size and the prints above are NOT to scale. Be reasonable. If they were to size that would mean he also had enormous fingers and legs and would need to fit inside a huge building or walk about shrouded in flowing cloth and disguised as a pile of laundry or something like that.

End of document.
